Do not date this chart until the names are real. A chart dated before it was filled in is a chart nobody used.

Confirmed: sole owner, no board of directors · owner plus 4–10 staff · already serving people.

Purpose

Show who reports to whom, and — the part a surveyor actually checks — show that every required function is assigned to a named person. A function nobody owns is a function nobody does.

1. Function assignment — the table a surveyor reads first

The chart below shows reporting lines. This table shows accountability. In a small agency one person holds several of these, which is normal and expected. What is not acceptable is a function with nobody's name against it.

#	Function	CARF area	Who holds it	Also their other role?	Backup if unavailable
1	Chief Executive Officer / Owner	1.A	Nicky Ingram	—	`[FILL IN]`
2	Program Director / Program Supervisor	1.A, 2.A	`[FILL IN]`		`[FILL IN]`
3	Supervisor of the peer workforce	1.I	`[FILL IN]`		`[FILL IN]`
4	Quality Improvement lead	1.L, 1.M	`[FILL IN]`		`[FILL IN]`
5	Health and Safety Officer	1.H	`[FILL IN]`		`[FILL IN]`
6	Privacy Officer	1.J, 2.G	`[FILL IN]`		`[FILL IN]`
7	Compliance Officer	1.A, 1.E	`[FILL IN]`		`[FILL IN]`
8	Document Coordinator	1.A	`[FILL IN]`		`[FILL IN]`
9	Records custodian	2.G	`[FILL IN]`		`[FILL IN]`
10	Billing / claims	1.F	`[FILL IN]`		`[FILL IN]`
11	Accessibility / accommodation requests	1.K	`[FILL IN]`		`[FILL IN]`

Rows 6 and 7 were not on the original chart. A Privacy Officer and a Compliance Officer are both named roles a surveyor asks for by name — "who is your Privacy Officer?" is a question with one correct form of answer, and it is a person's name. Add them even if they are you.

4. Dual roles

One person holding several titles is normal in a small agency and CARF does not object to it.

What CARF asks is that it be written down and honest.

1. Write both titles on the chart, in the function table, and in the person's job description. A title that exists only in someone's head is not assigned.
 2. Where a role is temporary, say so and say until when: `Nicky Ingram — CEO/Owner + acting QI Lead until a QI lead is designated`.
 3. Where one person holds a role that is supposed to check another role they also hold, that is a separation-of-duties issue, not just a dual role. See section 5.

5. Who checks the Owner's work

This section exists because a sole-owner agency has a real, answerable problem, and a surveyor will find it in about four minutes.

If the Owner delivers or oversees the service, and signs the cheques, and reviews the records, and investigates complaints about the agency, then nobody independent is checking anything. CARF does not require a board. It does expect the agency to have thought about this and to have an answer.

Workable answers for an agency this size — pick and record at least one:

Control	How it works here
Bank reconciliation by someone who does not write cheques	`[FILL IN — who]`
Record review by someone who did not write the documentation	`[FILL IN — likely the Program Supervisor]`
Grievances about the Owner routed to someone else	`[FILL IN — who, and how people are told]`
External accountant, bookkeeper or annual financial review	`[FILL IN — firm]`
External consultant reviewing quality findings	Successful Solutions
Persons served able to complain outside the agency	State licensing authority, the health plan, protection and advocacy, and CARF — all listed on the Rights handout

The compensating control chosen is recorded here and repeated in the financial controls policy. Writing "sole owner, no separation possible" and stopping is the answer that fails.

6. Coverage when someone is unavailable

From the succession requirement in 1.A. Fill the backup column in section 1, then confirm:

- Every function in section 1 has a named backup: `[ ]` confirmed`
- At least two people can reach the record system, the bank, the payer portals, the building and the alarm: `[ ]` confirmed`
- Where the Owner is the only person who can do something, that is written down as a known risk and carried on the risk register: `[ ]` confirmed`

7. Procedure

1. Fill every name in section 1 and section 2. Leave nothing as `[FILL IN]` — an unassigned function is a finding.
2. Fill the backup column.
3. Record the compensating controls in section 5.
4. Date the chart on the day it is finished. Not before.
5. Share it with every staff member and record that below.
6. Post it where staff can see it.
7. Update within 14 days of any role change, re-date it, re-issue it, and log the change below. Remove the superseded chart from circulation the same day.
8. Review at least annually even if nothing changed, and record that.

8. Distribution record

Name	Role	Chart version received	Date received	Signature
------	------	------------------------	---------------	-----------

9. Change log

Date of change	What changed	New version	Re-issued to staff (date)	Superseded copy removed
----------------	--------------	-------------	---------------------------	-------------------------

10. What a surveyor will ask

They ask	They are testing	What has to be true
"Who is your Privacy Officer?"	1.J — named accountability	A name comes back immediately, from anyone
"Who is accountable for quality?"	1.A	A name, not "we all are"
"Who supervises the peer specialists?"	1.I	A name, and that person's credential
"Who reviews the records? Did they write any of them?"	2.H independence	The reviewer did not write what they reviewed
"If a person served had a complaint about the Owner, who would hear it?"	1.J, 1.A	A route that does not run through the Owner
"Is this chart current?"	1.A	The chart date matches the actual staffing today
Asked of a peer specialist : "who do you report to?"	Whether the chart is real	Their answer matches the chart
